

This image shows a vertical strip of a document page. The left edge is dark and textured, possibly representing the binding or the edge of the paper. The right edge is lighter and also textured. The central area is a narrow, light-colored strip. There are some small, dark specks and marks scattered across the surface, which could be dust or artifacts from the scanning process. The overall appearance is that of a high-contrast, black-and-white scan of a physical document.

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla you had be induced to take your trial. A Doctor's advice is always a worthy indication, tells his experience before "In one place who are so much in want of Hood's Sarsaparilla, the clerk tried to induce me to try the one manufactured by Hood's, he told me that his friends would testify that I might take it on ten days trial, that I told him like it I need not pay anything else. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I had taken Hood's Sarsaparilla, knew what it was, was satisfied with it and said it was my own choice. When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, I was eating and sleeping with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly

SOLD EVERYWHERE

About one year ago I was given a few sample bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I felt, to be used and distributed among the employees of the Portland Star Match Factory, and as a result I now keep it at hand for immediate use in case of strains, bruises, cramps and pains of all kinds. I would not be without it in my family or at the factory.
